THE HAWAIIAN STATUS QUO.

The STAR wishes to say, for the benefit of the American readers who follow it in the hospitable columns of the United States annexation press, that the dominant party here:

I. Is stronger in a political and financial way than it has been at any time since January 17th;

II. That Minister Blount, far from giving any sign of opposition to the reform movement or any desire to restore the monarchy, has shown a sympathy and friendliness to the Government which all its ministers acknowledge and appreciate;

III. That all efforts to create republican sentiment apart from that which inheres to the annexation cause, and all efforts to disorganize or diminish the strength of the Annexation party have failed;

IV. That the conduct of the ex-Queen's campaign for restoration is largely, and so far as the newspaper manifestation of it is concerned, entirely in the hands of British subjects;

V. That no murder society or anything equivalent to it has been or will be formed or countenanced by the Annexation party;

VI. That all reports of danger to the peace of these Islands, either present or prospective, are without basis in fact.

These are the plain truths of the Hawaiian situation as it exists to-day, and those American papers which use them as the basis of their news and comment will serve their readers wisely.

The honors paid to the bodies of the soldiers of the Provisional army who fell in the Kalalau expedition were altogether fitting. These men were none the less heroes because they died as victims of an inglorious campaign. Indeed the risks they deliberately took, the obvious dangers they ran and the fate they came to marked them as men worthy to wear the uniform of any great country on the sternest field of battle. They set an example to the military profession and will be remembered upon each succeeding Decoration day for the brave deeds done in the flesh. Peace to their ashes!

The splendid steamer Oceanic, the first among the greyhounds to cross the Atlantic in time gone by, is also the first which took the long, lithe, pickered-like shape and proved its practicability to the world. It is a pleasure, as well as a pledge of safety, to ride on a liner like the Oceanic, and Hawaiians who have a trip to make coastward are wise when they secure passage in her. All hail the day when such vessels as those of the O. and O. will ply between Honolulu and the coast exclusively.

The difficulty to get any first-class man to fill Minister Blount's post shows how widespread among the Democratic leaders of the United States is the belief that the Hawaiian mission cannot last. Were it not for this there would have been a scramble among hungry office-seekers for the place. So far, nobody would take it off a Christmas tree and thus give up his claims upon the Administration for a merely temporary benefit.

The statement of an Egyptian visitor in New York that Mr. Gladstone can not advocate home rule in Ireland as a matter of principle and deny it to Egypt as a matter of policy without showing himself to be gravely inconsistent is one that is not to be readily confuted. What is sauce for the Irish goose ought to be sauce for the Egyptian gander, particularly when Egypt is not a part of the British Empire.

By his business-like statement of the national finances Minister Damon has spiked the guns—or the blunderbusses—of the Royalist press. With a balance in favor of the Government of $20,895 92 between what it owes on its own account and what is owing it, the new regime is very well fixed indeed. These are the times of economy, retrenchment and reform—long life to them.

The proposed 1000 foot steamer has a draught and beam which, figured down to the proportions of a model, would give a vessel twenty feet in length, seventeen inches in draught and a quarter of an inch wide. We guess the ship won't be built, unless it is designed that she shall float on her side or have an outrigger like a Hawaiian canoe.

The balloon freighted with the Royalist afterthought that the United States "dethroned the Queen," will never rise again. Lillukalani herself punctured it three times with her goose quill and the rents have constantly widened and let out the gas. It is time to wrap the torn aerostat about the lost cause and pan the whole contrivance.

The July restoration day having passed, the wishers of the ex-Queen should get together and fix up another for August. While they are about it, to save time they might as well include dates for September, October and the remaining two months.

The way the British editors of the restoration paper were caught in a spread eagle trap made the smile of the town look like a gash in a watermelon.

A REWARD for the body of Koolau would soon make the mountains too hot to hold him.

NO HOME RULE IN EGYPT.

Where Mr. Gladstone's Policy is Remarkably Inconsistent.

NEW YORK, July 6. — Abdurrahman Effendi, an Egyptian of rank, is in this city. He has a mission to propagate Muslim facts in this country. He will assist ex-Consul Alexander Russell Webb in establishing colonies of Egyptians in the South and in building mosques in this and other cities. He is a member of the National party and firmly believes that the English will evacuate Egypt.

"Mr. Gladstone wants home rule for Ireland now," he said, "but he prevented the Egyptians from securing the same privileges when he sent a British fleet to bombard my native city of Alexandria. It was done solely in the interests of bondholders. Arabi Pasha was an unsuccessful Washington. He attacked the British press. He expressed the opinion that the occupancy of Egypt by the British would be terminated in a comparatively short time, and predicted that the next great war would be between England and France over Egypt."

"America is a great country," he continued. "In Egypt we look upon the United States as the prospective ruler of the world, although our people find it difficult to understand your system of government."

PERSONAL.

Claus Spreckels will leave on the Australia.

Prof. J. Q. Wood of Oahu college will enter Harvard next fall.

Marshal Hitchcock, who is getting better, will probably go to Hawaii to convalesce.

Seth Crowell has been interviewed at length in the San Francisco Bulletin upon annexation matters.

Hon. C. Bolte entertained several guests at dinner Saturday evening at his pleasant residence on Judd street.

The Duke of Newcastle and Admiral Skerrett and wife were in attendance at the morning service of the Second Congregation of St. Andrew's Cathedral.

Marshal Hitchcock being on the high road to recovery, Mrs. Hitchcock has concluded to take her turn of the gripe and is now confined to her bed with it.

David Dayton being out of the office of Inspector of Lepers, no successor will be appointed. The duties of inspector will be performed by C. B. Reynolds.

J. E. Howard, who is looking after the interests of the Stockton Business College, returned on Saturday from a trip to Kauai. He leaves again tomorrow for an extended visit to Hawaii and Maui.

Journals and Journalists.

At last accounts C. E. Washburn, late of the Associated Press, was working in Portland.

George Manson of the STAR has become Call correspondent.

Upon the departure of Mr. Cowles, Arthur Johnstone, editor of the Advertiser, became Associated Press correspondent here.

Rev. S. E. Bishop does the United Press correspondence here and is writing special articles on Hawaiian matters for the Independent.

L. D. Timmons is preparing an article on "Hawaiian Defences" for the Cosmopolitan Magazine.

Mr. Bradford has done up the leper expedition with photographs, etc., for the Examiner.

An anonymous writer here is supplying the New York Sun with lengthy correspondence.

Miss A. E. Knapp and Hon. R. M. Daggett are writing specialties for the Sunday Call.

The Cyclorama.

The report in circulation that the Cyclorama Company was about to send on to Chicago a troupe of singing and dancing girls is untrue. Mr. Hobron informed a STAR reporter this morning that he has been authorized to send on a male Hawaiian quartette of singers and musicians, but so far he has been unable to obtain them. Many applications have been made, but the applicants, not being of pure Hawaiian blood, have been rejected.
